ANSWERING HIS LETTER

By ANNA PHILPOT.

"Well," indignantly exclaimed the girl to herself, after she had glanced at the date of the letter that the postman had just left. "Two weeks!" She flung her head high, and looked into the mirror to get the effect. "I'll show him that I can keep him waiting, too!"

She unfolded the letter and read it. Then she reread it. "Not an apology in it, either! I ought just to write and tell him a thing or two—but he'll wait at least three weeks before he gets a word from me! Let him see how he likes it!" She was extremely indignant.

Going to her desk, she flung the letter disdainfully upon it and closed the lid. Then she opened the desk again and took up the letter.

"I wonder," she pondered, "whether I ought to wait three weeks. I don't believe it would be well to wait more than just as long as he waited. That will be a broad hint to him. But I'm not going to be satisfied with hints! I'm going to tell him good and plain that if my letters aren't of sufficient interest to be worth an answer before I've forgotten everything I wrote to him I'll just direct them to people by whom they will be more appreciated."

"I'll write him this very minute and set forth matters clearly to that young man while everything's fresh in my mind. Then I can leave the letter undated and send it later, whenever I decide will be best."

Suiting the action to the word, she proceeded hastily to scribble off a letter.

"I'd better not begin to scold him at first," she decided. "I'll just answer his letter. I'll write as though I had nothing to say especially, and when I get nearly to the end I'll tell him a few things that he ought to know!"

She wrote on, happily smiling to herself, through a number of pages.

"Goodness!" she reflected. "What's the use of stirring up trouble? I think I'd just better let it drop and act as though I hadn't noticed how long a time had elapsed since he got my letter. It's far better that way. Really, it is foolish for a girl to let a man think she's eagerly waiting and watching for his letters."

"Then, too, I suppose he's awfully busy. They say that successful young business men usually can't get on with girls at all, but their time is almost never their own. And then his poor arms must get so tired writing his memoranda and getting out his reports that he ought to be praised for writing at all. Poor boy! It's mean of me to be resentful. I suppose he does his best. And it must be fearfully lonely for him out there and I suppose he just waits and waits for my letters.

"Let's see. He did say that he walked to the postoffice every night for the mail. Think how disappointing it must be to find nothing from me, day after day. He might cease going for the mail altogether if he thought no one would write. Goodness! What if I waited three weeks and then he didn't think it worth while to go for his mail any more and he'd never get my letter? And I'd sit here thinking he just wouldn't answer. That's the way most trouble starts. I'm not going to let it start that way for us, if I can help it!"

"I've made this letter just as formal and unconcerned as I possibly could," she said. Then she glanced through her letter. "Oh, I think it sounds awfully cold, considering the fact that we're engaged! I'll just add a postscript and try to make him see how much I care for him."

She scribbled away until the postscript was five pages longer than the letter. Then she looked at her watch. "Goodness! I suppose the poor boy is counting the hours to see when a letter can get back to him. And he's so busy that the days just fly. I'm sure he didn't mean to wait so long before writing."

"Oh, what's the use? I'll just put on my coat and run to the mail box to catch the next mail with this letter. Poor, lonesome boy!"—Chicago Daily News.

According to instructions. Bobbie—I heard you got a letter from your brother? Joey—Indeed, I did. Bobbie—Was there anything important in the letter? Joey—Well, I didn't open it, for on the outside of the envelope was printed: "Please return in five days," so I sent it back to him.

Truck Replaced Three Teams

In eleven months this three-ton KisselKar Truck covered in actual service 4,760 miles at a fuel cost of $1.08 per day. Manned by a driver and one helper, it replaced three teams of horses. The average daily burden was 37 17.20ths tons carried an average load of four tons—one ton overload—but in the entire period named, was laid up only two and one-half hours for repairs.

"We can recommend the KisselKar Truck and assure that it lives up to its guarantee," writes Thomas E. Fleischer, manager of the Sheboygan Lime Works.

Two and one-half hours for repairs, carrying over 37 tons per day is a record worthy of notice. KisselKar Trucks cost little to maintain and are economical to operate because the problem is solved in KisselKar construction.

Note these striking KisselKar features—Simple engine—easy to operate—reserve power—excess capacity—differential lock preventing one drive wheel absorbing all the power on slippery places, and stalling the truck—four speed transmitters geared up—fourth speed permitting high speed when desired without racing engine; 15 to 20 per cent. lower fuel consumption than average trucks—light spring suspension for power plant, heavy spring suspension for load—gauge that weighs load—greatest accessibility—easy control—larger brake drums, and extra powerful brakes—special bodies designed to meet every need.

KisselKar Trucks

1500 lbs.-1-2-3-4 and 5 Tons

In the range of capacity, 1500 lbs. to 5 tons, you can find just the type that fills your requirements—and with the KisselKar Truck goes the KisselKar Service, which is the manufacturer's guarantee of satisfaction.

KisselKar Service means taking off your hands all of the mechanical details. A special service building is maintained in this city for the benefit of KisselKar owners. The KisselKar service is a broad and comprehensive arrangement between manufacturer and owners that cares for the car, maintains efficiency, retards depreciation and minimizes upkeep. This service is a valuable consideration in the purchase of a power wagon. Investigate it.

Ask us to analyze your present horse haulage as compared to motor haulage. The result will be interesting.

Mr. Kentucky Farmer

If we told you of a crop which brought a cash income the year around, made the soil richer every year and required no skilled labor to handle it,

Wouldn't That Be The Crop For You?

You have this opportunity. The Tri-State Butter Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, will buy your cream the year around, pay spot cash for every shipment and give you a market that is responsible, safe and permanent, and proven so to more than 5,000 shippers.

No skilled labor is required to ship cream. Separate the milk, you—twice a week in the summer season and not quite so often in the winter time.

Every cow will pay cash for what she eats, yielding a revenue of from $50.00 to $90.00 per year, besides adding $25.00 worth of fertility to your soil.

Ship your cream to-day, or write for free trial cans.
